DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: In the specification at page 2 line 14 two periods are at the end of the sentence.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 3, 6-14, and 16-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 3 is vague and indefinite because it is unclear if "a flexible strip" in line four is the same flexible strip in claim 1 line 4 "at least one flexible strip" or an additional flexible strip.

Claims 6, 7, 9, 14, and 16-18 are vague and indefinite because of a lack of antecedent basis for "the first printed circuit board" since claim 1 sets forth "at least one printed circuit board" and further "the printed circuit board".

Claim 8 is vague and indefinite because of a double recitation of "at least one flexible strip".

Claims 10 and 12 are vague and indefinite because of a lack of antecedent basis for "the at least one further printed circuit board".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-5, 14, 15, 17-19, and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Nix et al.

The device as claimed is disclosed by Nix et al with a housing 5 having a printed circuit board 45 and at least one sensor 12 associated with the circuit board and a contact cup 13 which is arranged at the lower end of the housing, and a flexible strip 11 which has at least one connecting line provided on the at least one printed circuit board.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

8. Claims 6-11, 13, 16, and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nix et al.

The device as claimed is disclosed by Nix et al as stated in the rejection recited above for claims 1-5, 14, 15, 17-19, and 21, but lacks using multiple circuit boards connected rigidly or by a flexible connecting member.

It is old and well known to use multiple circuit boards in an electronic device connected either rigidly or by a flexible member to add further electronic functions in a predefined space. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use multiple circuit boards connected either rigidly or by a flexible member in Nix et al as is old and well known to add electronic functions in a predefined space.

Allowable Subject Matter

9. Claim 12 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
